DVD-based Training for Emergency Responders

Fire Department Training Library

• 40 DVDs • 10 Guides • 6 CD Roms • 5 FREE books

Hundreds of millions of dollars are released by the Department of Homeland Security every year to support fire departments. Funds are available under the Emergency Preparedness and Response Directorate to help emergency personnel train to respond to natural disasters and terrorism. Emergency Film Group, the worldwide leader in video-based emergency response training, has crafted a training program package that meet the criteria for purchase with these funds.

The Fire Department Training Library provides in-depth training for firefighters and other emergency personnel. Many are accompanied by Guides or Resource CD Roms. For program descriptions, visit www.efilmgroup.com.
